Table I.

Area, Houses and Population.

Explanatory Note.

This and the subsequent tables embody the statistics of the Census which was taken on the night intervening between the 26th and 27th February 1931. The figures shown against Jodhpur City are for the areas within and outside the city walls as well as the suburban area of Gawan, Bagan, Sunthla, Bhadwasiya and Mandore.

Census of 21 inhabited villages of the Marwar State administered on certain conditions by the British Government was, as usual, taken by the Ajmer-Merwara authorities.

NOTE.

In numerous villages of Marwar there are "Dhanies" which have sometimes been treated as separate villages, while at others the main village only has been counted. Practically every year some "Dhanies" are newly colonized while others are deserted.

2. According to the old record, this State is supposed to consist of 5,555 "Kheras" (villages). Some time about 1885 A. D. the villages numbered 4,440.

3. According to the Boundary Settlement record, the villages exclusive of the Sambhar Shamlat Area number 4,215. The Boundary Settlement Department, too, seems to have treated numerous hamlets as separate villages while in some cases two or more villages were assigned one number. The former appears in the Index according to the Boundary Settlement record while for the latter, the number itself has been written against the main village and sub-numbers have been marked against the others, numbering 118 in all (Vide Appendix A).

4. The sub-joined gives the number of inhabited villages exhibited in the record of the decennial censuses:—

Serial No.	Year of Census.	No. of inhabited Towns and villages.	REMARKS.
1	1891.	4,225	} Exclusive of the Jodhpur moiety of Sambhar Shamlat Area.
2	1901.	4,234
3	1911.	4,113½	} Inclusive of the Jodhpur moiety of Sambhar Shamlat Area.
4	1921.	4,092½
5	1931.	4,158½

5. In the census record, the town of Sambhar and 12 villages of the Sambhar Shamlat Area have for the Marwar moiety been counted as 6½, while in the Village Index, separate serial number has been assigned to every one of these 13 villages. The number of inhabited villages according to the Index thus comes to 4,165 which added to 181 un-inhabited villages increases the number to 4,346.

6. All the villages of Marwar have in this Index been arranged alphabetically and the name of the Pargana within which a village is situated has been printed against it.
